Supreme Progen

In this EDH deck, I will show how doing Regen-itus works using Regenerate and a few other key protection cards. The main goal of this deck is to seek out as much mana as possible so you can get Progenitus out as fast as possible. Let me know if you have any suggestions for me in the comments!

G / W Humans

My green and white human token deck. The main focus of this deck is to get as many tokens as possible and alpha strike your enemies down. I'll be using Thraben Doomsayer to get a reliable human spawner and other sorceries like Increasing Devotion for a late-game move.

Enchant the Field

This deck is mostly about global enchantments, but also incorporates some creature enchantments for backup. The main goal is to get Zur, the Enchanter out and then start dropping global enchantments each turn. I'm having trouble finding a proper staple enchantment to run 4 of, so if you have any ideas, let me know.

Mana Balance Issue

From: MageRage[8]

Your deck is looking very solid, but I can guess you are having some mana issues. Try putting some mana ramp like Rampant Growth would really help you out. If you are looking for more versatile ramp, look at Expedition Map. That will allow you to get any land with no colored mana! Reply to this if you have any other problems.

More Ramp

From: DirtyBird[2]

I agree with MageRage, you need more ramp. You say the deck is all about that, yet you don't have the cards to support it. Also, check out Birds of Paradise

Humans

Resilient, small, and great in numbers. Humans are capable of short-term swarming as well as long-term defending. It's usually hard to count them out of any fight before it's completely over.

Approximately 1,693 cards

Dragons

Huge, flying, full of fire. These monstrous creatures are big in mana cost, but yield large amounts of damage in the air. This also gives them a bit of evasion, however slow they may be.
